Only Fat Girls in His Office.

"I have found one employer whose 'bug' in hiring folks for his office is worse than the idea against bobbed heads and short skirts," lamented a young woman who was weary with hunting work.

"And what's that?"

"He won't hire any one—male or female—unless he has a fat, healthy, well-fed, well-cared-for look. I was talking to the girl who lets applicants in to see the boss. She was real sweet and kind and she told me I might as well not go in. I asked her why, and she confided to me that I was too pale, too delicate looking. This girl thinks it is just because he is known as an old tightwad and is selfish, and he doesn't want it said of him that even his office people look pinched and pale and ill-treated."—New York Sun.

Equipment, Anyway.

"Let's take a day off and go fishing."

"Aw, shoot! I never had any luck fishing."

"Neither do I; but you can help me get away with a bottle of bait, can't you?"—San Francisco Chronicle.

Quite the Contrary.

"I worked two whole weeks on a bit of verse and sold it for a song." "Too bad!" "Not at all—it was a song."—Boston Transcript.

SHIPS THAT FATTEN SAILORS

Modern "Tankers" Are Now Blamed for Added Weight Taken On by the Seamen.

Shipping experts continue to argue regarding the advantages of oil fuel over coal. At present the question is occupying the attention of medical men.

The adverse effect of oil fuel upon such surfaces as steel, canvas, rope and other shipping accessories are widely known; ships' doctors are now divided on the question as to whether it is harmful or beneficial in its effect upon sailors, a writer in London Tit-Bits states.

Sailors on oil-fed vessels are fatter and plumper than those who work on coal-fed ships. Some naval surgeons declare that the fattening effect is produced by the slight fumes exuded by the dormant oil fuel; others ridicule the suggestion, and maintain that the former are fat simply because they have less work to do.

"Coaling ship" is one of the finest exercises in the world for reducing superfluous flesh. It is hard work that has to be maintained at high speed all day. Ships vie with each other in getting their coal aboard in record time, and even after the operation is finished the sailors still have a few more ounces of avoirdupois to work off in cleaning up the mess below decks. Usually three days are occupied in cleaning a vessel after a bout of "coal ship." On the other hand, oil-fuel ships perform the task in about three hours.

Doctors are asking themselves: "Is the fat a healthy fat, or an injurious parasitic growth?" If a hammock is splashed with oil fuel, all the scrubbing and boiling in the world will not prevent a hole from appearing in it; and if it eats through double-ply canvas, what will oil fuel accomplish in the case of human beings?

"Tanker" hands are noticing that after two or three voyages they begin to put on flesh.

Mr. Henry Carr—You guaranteed that the engine of this used car would develop 60 horsepower. Look it over.

Dealer—The 60 horsepower is all there only they appear to be pulling in opposite directions.

He Found Himself.

The marine had tumbled off a motorcycle, and he was dead to the world when they carried him to the hospital. The next morning he woke up just as the doctor came around to see how the patient was getting along.

"Well, well, my man," said the doctor cheerily, "how did you find yourself this morning?"

"I opened my eyes," said the Gyrene, "took a good look at the bed—saw some guy lying in it—and there I was."—The Leatherneck.

IN DOTTED SWISS AND LACE; UTILITY COATS FOR SPRING

WHEN a little lady, of consequence in the social world, takes her afternoon promenade under the shade of a pink silk parasol with lace on top, we are constrained to study the rest of her apparel with interest. In at least ninety cases out of a hundred she is found to be simply and daintily dressed in clothes made of fine cotton goods, sparingly trimmed with hand-made laces and sewed by hand. Much attention is given to little hand-made tucks on her finer clothes, while simple stitchery is employed on all of them.

Simple, Dainty Dress.

Including the dependable gingham and other sturdy cottons that clothe her for her daily business of living.

White dotted swiss makes the pretty little frock shown in the picture. It hangs straight from the neck down, its fullness taken up by small tucks. An opening part way down the front is fastened with crochet buttons. The round neck and bottom of the skirt are bordered with a narrow edge of cluny lace, and three wide tucks above the hem give the skirt a sprightly flare.

A little hat to match uses the dotted swiss over a silk-covered frame and the cluny lace edges the brim. Narrow ribbon, which may be in any color, continue to flourish no one knows how long.

There are many cape-like styles in the spring showings which are classed as coats only because some clever designer has known how to gracefully introduce a pair of sleeves into a cape. A coat belonging to this group is shown at the left of the picture. It is a handsome affair, following faithfully the dictates of the mode in length, lines and decoration. This last is an effective embroidery of braid and silk on the sleeves and back of the garment.

Whatever the need of its wearer, she will find a friend in the smart coat makes a collar and tie for the hat, and a little bow of it adorns the front of the dress. Such transparent fabrics are often worn over colored underslips. Batiste, voile and crepe de chine are used for frocks of this character and colored linens.

Coats for Spring.

White hose stockings and patent leather slippers are approved in the company of all such finery.

Coats for spring have brought with them some delightful surprises. They have made their appearance in a very wide range of styles, and these styles are very smart. They are designed with an eye always looking in the direction of utility, even when the colors at the right, with its popular scarf collar, finished with wool fringe and tassels. It is a spirited model and carries off well the metallic grille that serves to hold it in place and, incidentally, to give it a telling finish.

Speaking of grilles, they are worth considering, for they spice up too-simple frocks and coats, redeeming them in some cases, from being commonplace.
